

Thanksgiving Edition

GEORGETOWN / SCOTT COUNTY MUSEUM

Donated by Garth

Silverware

What brings family and friends together.

When you are sitting down for your Thanksgiving meals, you probably notice all of the silverware that is used. Well, the museum has some on display!

When conversations get quiet at the Thanksgiving dinner table, don't forget to mention the extravagant silverware we have on display.

You may not have the fanciest silverware while eating your Thanksgiving meal, but remember, "You don't need a silver fork to eat good food."

A TASTE OF WHAT'S INSIDE:

Silverware- 1

Golden Eagle- 2

Closing Statement

Stop by the Museum to check out the silverware and Golden Eagle. Don't forget, we have Will T. Hunleigh Note Cards for sale for the upcoming holiday season. We hope you have a Happy Thanksgiving!

229 East Main Street
Georgetown, KY 40324

(502) 863-6201

Hours: Wednesday-
Saturday from 10AM-4PM

www.georgetownscottcountymuseum.com

Golden Eagle

The new and improved turkey.

We know, right now, that turkey is the only bird on your mind. However, you should take a look at the story about the Golden Eagle that we have on display.

"One cold morning this majestic Golden Eagle was found frozen to death on properties of the Lair's, east of the city of Georgetown. This eagle was prepared to take its last perch in the store belonging to Ben Lair & 'Scoop' Oldham on Main Street in Georgetown."

"The eagle remained there for many years. When the store was purchased by John Toncray, the eagle became the mascot

(posting himself on the store's check). The store was sold, and the Toncray's basement became the eagle's new home."

"On March 15, 1999, the Georgetown and Scott County Museum welcomed the eagle, and he came to his final 'perching' place. There he will remain for the duration."

Once you get done eating lots of turkey, you should stop by the museum to see the Golden Eagle yourself!